Big Buying Is Now Being Done

Property Settlement at Unprecedented Pace—
Excessive Interest

Bassano has witnessed great developments during the past week and an unprecedented state of affairs prevails. The property market has changed hands the local people having sold at prevailing market prices to a syndicate in which Senator Lougheed and R. B. Bennett, M.P.s are acknowledged to be heavily interested. The new buyers are moving in fast. Those who still own property in the centre of the town refuse to leave, hold an option, can hardly get on any terms. Adjacent land rises for subdivisions while the town grows and so on. The situation is under option, while Bassano Estates a close piece of property put on through Peeler and Darby's selling rapidly at rising prices.

The hotels are full of speculators keen on the scene and the cost of a room has to be exorbitant, nightingale to accommodate the crowds. The excitement threatens to keep up for some time.

MILLER MAY WRESTLE GOTCH AT CALGARY

Frank Gotch the undefeated and undisputed champion wrestler of the world, has decided to include Calgary on his world's tour, and will be seen here with his wrestling partner, Yasir Mahmood, on November 8. The champion wrestler will have an exhibition which will include a full match with his partner or some local man, followed by an explanation of the various holds which he has had to win his title of world's champion. The bout will take place in the same ring which was arranged for the champion's return.

For some time now those at the head of the Western Canada Athletic Association have been keeping the wires hot trying to persuade Gotch to show in Calgary, but no such plans have been made. The contracts are now signed, and an audience of the champion as he turns himself will be seen in Calgary.

In making the arrangements of officials of the club discovered that Gotch and his manager, Emil Klank, had some very distant ideas of where Gotch would and would not show in Western Canada. The charter of the club gives them permission to put on Swift Current Line Is Assured.

Electric Line Is Planned for Bassano

Aberia Land Traction Company intends running here

The plans of the Land Traction Company which is now a well-organized concern' provision is made for an electric line from Calgary to Bassano. According to the plans circulated, the line runs in almost a straight line, the town being crossed by a bridge over the Bow River at Calgary and goes as far as Brooks.

The intention as published is for the purpose of supplying the market of Calgary with the produce of the farms in the area. The intention is to run the line across the prairie nature of the land under the undertaking a large amount of stock, in being sold.

No mistakes could be made by penning this site for it is already recognized that there will be a market for the production of small farms that will be flourishing by persisting an intensive farming and citizens of Bassano have hopes that by the time the line is completed the town will be a city center and likely to have a market of its own to supply.

The directors of the new company are D. T. Blow, G. E. Wood, W. A. Lowry, C. S. Drummond, R. E. Beveridge and John Breckinridge while, S. C. McGregor is the secretary.

In all parts of the province, and as they tried to look the world's champion to appear in Edmonton as well, as Calgary. This almost caused the arrangements for Gotch to have been made, but after trying to persuade him to come to town he was told that he had to make a grand divisional point at the very least.

The directors of the new company are

D. T. Blow, G. E. Wood, W. A. Lowry, C. S. Drummond, R. E. Beveridge and John Breckinridge while, S. C. McGregor is the secretary.

It is quite possible that some local grapples will try to match their strength against the world's champion in hand-to-hand contests as there are several men in the city who are pretty good at the game. One man named Miller, who is a local boy, has got a good record and who says that he has met both Gotch and Doc. Roller, is willing to do on with Gotch, and while he does not think he can come anywhere near beating the world's champion he will be seen in Calgary.

This news confirms the rumors that have been current for some considerable time that the C. P. R. intended the Swift Current cut-off to strike the main line at Bassano.

The letter from the Department read referring to an application made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for approval of a route map of the railway from Bassano eastward to Town 22 Range 25 W. 3rd. I have to inform you that said application has been rejected and is being held by Mr. Clark at his office in the Canadian Block at Ottawa on Tuesday November 21 at 9 a.m.

What this means for Bassano can only be conjectured, but it is believed that in the near future it will be a grand divisional point at the very least.

ALL FOUR RIDINGS WENT CONSERVATIVE

Gleichen Elected Riley By Almost 400—Three Tory Gains

A. Tweedie, elected junior member for Lethbridge over T. J. S. Skinner by a majority of 1,119. F. McArthur, elected member for Gleichen over P. McAlpin, by a majority of 351, with eleven polls to hear from.

Dr. T. J. Stewart, elected member for Lethbridge over S. J. Shepherd by a slight majority, and John Roman, elected member for Pincher Creek over John Ross, by a majority of about 140; ratify incomplete Conservative Gailes—Gleichen, Lethbridge and Pincher Creek.

McArthur, F. McArthur, Riley, Dr. Tweedie, Roman, and John Ross were all very light ones. If Tweedie's majority had been larger, his opponent, T. J. S. Skinner, would have lost.

Lethbridge Harold W. Riley, his Conservative candidate, has a majority of 351, with 10 points to hear from which cannot alter the result. His opponent, F. McArthur, of Irlam, did very badly in many of the rural polls, where he got only 100 votes, while the Liberals got 351, while Riley polled a tremendous vote in Sunnyside, Irlam, and Lethbridge.

Lethbridge has returned Dr. T. J. Stewart Conservative, over H. J. Shepherd, by a small majority. Detailed figures for Lethbridge and Pincher Creek are not yet available.

Detailed figures for Pincher Creek are also lacking, but the election of John Dennis, Conservative, over John Dennis, Liberal, was a dead heat. Reports from the south say that the Liberals have a majority of 100, while the government for the manner in which it has handled the A. & G. W. affair is very strong and the Liberals blame that for their defeat.

NYAL'S Stone Root Compound For KIDNEYS, BLADDER and LIVER

Working every moment, day and night, filtering out the poisonous waste products from the blood—is it any wonder the kidneys get tired and unable to do their work?

Then the trouble begins, and kidney troubles are serious. They do not get well without treatment.

This tendency is always from bad to worse.

Be kind to your kidneys. Give them help by taking Nyal's Stone Root compound—even if no kidney trouble is noticed—for it will benefit them, tone them up and strengthen them.

Bassano As a Railroad Center

Lines Are Proposed to Radiate North South
East and West

String up the railroad developments promised and they mean to Bassano. There is a proposed line which will be separated by the cut which will connect Swift Current and Bassano. Besides this Swift Current cut off there is a line promised north and south and another connecting between Cochrane and Virden, crossing the Bow River here. In addition there is the branch line opening up the rich irrigation district between here and Standish and Didsbury which will be built this year.

The result of this is that the town is bound to be a big distributing center, and one cannot imagine any reason why it should not be an industrial centre with the huge horse and gas powers available.

CROWFOOT

McC. Robson has threshed and stored 500 bushels of wheat from 6 acres and 850 bushel of oats from 15 acres this was a good sample and the wheat was from a recent crop.

LUMBER CUT IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The rapid exploitation of lumber in British Columbia is increasing yearly. This year marks the twentieth year of Ontario in point of lumber production during 1910. Statistics of the Dominion lumber cut for 1910, collected by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, state that our billion, six hundred and twenty million feet of lumber worth nearly twenty five million dollars was cut in British Columbia in 1910. As a result of great forest fires, the total amount cut was more than double in one year.

In 1909 the British Columbians cut constituting one fifth of the total in 1910 the production of lumber in the west coast was one-third, and it reached only forty-five million feet of surpassing the cut in Ontario. Seven important softwoods make up over 90 per cent of the woods up over 90 per cent of cedar, western yellow pine, timberline spruce, hemlock and jack pine. Nearly forty-five per cent of the total was made up by Douglas fir. This species was cut in 1910 to the extent of nearly seven million feet, and had the largest actual increase known by any species, an increase of nearly two hundred and fifty million feet. Cedar composed one fifth of the total cut of 1910, wood in magnitudes of 100,000,000 feet. The total lumber cut was over 100 million feet of this species cut and increase of two hundred and seventeen million feet over the 1909 production. The cut of yellow pine amounted to one billion, six hundred and twenty million feet. This species of wood was nearly six times as much as the amount cut in 1909 and was sufficient to rate it from fourteenth to eighth place in importance among the lumber producing trees of Canada.

able contracts for advertising space with Eaton's.

The fact that one of the papers carry announcements from this firm is a good, interesting and worthy of discussion.

The ground that the local business men objects—in other words will not stand for the insertion of advertisements from Eaton's or its competitors—such as would bring these large firms into direct competition. There is no doubt that this is the reason for such refusal on the part of publishers, and yet it must be admitted that they sell advertising space to the newspaper.

A large percentage of the business men will continue to neglect advertising or to send orders for job printing to the newspaper, because they know that there are some business men who do appreciate the situation, and these are already well repaid—much more so than the newspaper publisher.

The stand that the newspaper takes against advertising largely one of sentiment is called in this case emotional on lines of business principles because he has every right to sell his space to the best buyers just as the merchant has the right to sell his wares. It is to be hoped that the publishers will not let the right of advertising be taken away from neighbouring centres as well as in their own town, notwithstanding that there are stores doing business in said neighbouring centres.

Assuredly the newspaper man is getting the worst of the climate as it is in a position to be considered and that he is a poster to be considered as to the rights or welfare of the public. To serve the public is one of the aims of the press at large, and in these days of "high costs" of advertising the paper may by presenting in the advertising columns relatively the best merchandise bargainable.

CAMEO KIRBY

Sleathmore had beat over the parchment, which still lay open upon a chair as judge. Pleydell had it to his hand. Closely examining the contents of the suit case had been somewhat disengaged, and the mechanical action had withdrawn a large amount of rest from Kirby's limbs. He had been compelled to fold his hands before replacing it. As he did so a red moreover lay flat from one of the pockets. Aaron, all the time, had been watching him, and when he saw that Kirby was about to lay his hands down, he had laid them under his head, under the light of an adjacent lamp, so the inscription on the lid which had arrested his attention was "Marshall Pleydell" and not "Aaron Randolph."

"Marshall Pleydell," said the boy with Aide's manner, as he examined his coat.

"What is that?" asked M. Vaudrey, entering the room and noting the other's interest.

"That is the name that fell from General Moreau's performance," replied Aaron, opening the box and examining its contents.

"You see, it is the signature of Adèle's mother. She was a gambler, the night he won the plantation," nodding to the baleful where Kirby could be heard laughing hard and forth.

"You know, you got me my mother's jewels. This is set with diamonds. Look—half of them are gone."

"The pawnshop, eh? I wonder."

"Yes, I wonder. What do you think it is in Colonel Moreau's portmanteau?"

"I don't know. I am not interested."

"I am not going to tell you," said Aaron solemnly. "You better give this box to Tom."

Laid down in another, the General pranced about, unwilling part-part to Judge Pleydell's漫游. The child strenuously disapproved of the idea, for he had been compelled to leave his bed and forced to exchange the known comforts of that article for the doubtful and uncertain of the drawing-room sofa.

"What do they make me get up in the middle of the night?" he evenly demanded as Cromp made up the Improvised bed in the now deserted room. "What for do they dress me?"

"You give to Judge Pleydell's plantation, honey," patiently explained the old servant. "The old master. 'Day you go to the old man's house to play with his old men. You ain't got no money. You must sleep, honey."

"I wake up when day ready, and Cromp lights up the room, so the General nodded drowsily and then closed his weary eyes.

"But I don't want to go to Judge Pleydell's plantation," feebly protested the child. "Aren't we even comfortable?"

"No, I don't hardly sleep so, if' marse. Yo' kin't stay no way like honey, ole' us Cromp kin' go nowal, wif' yo' old men. You must sleep, a new name now. You must sleep, honey."

"I wake up when day ready, and Cromp lights up the room, so the General nodded drowsily and then closed his weary eyes.

"And then Kirby comes in, as if' he come out of the other's game, the boy instantly awoke with a start and say bolt upright, throwing off his Improvised bed.

"I've got to have a talk with you," he said gravely. "No; I won't go to

"TET ALL HAVE YOU, DON'T THEY?"
Sleep, and if you have I'll let you. I want some more light. I'm going to have some things the way I want them."

Recognizing that night was useless and that the child was in deadly earnest, Kirby obediently turned over the lamp.

"It wakes me," he said mildly, "you're some day going to get me out of here. You know I'm not a bad boy."

"You come and sit here," Kirby promptly ordered the General, pointing to a stool beside the sofa. And again the boy came in. The child was silent, gravely contemplating his pseudo hero. "What is a—low scamp!" he suddenly sighed.

"It's what some people call me," replied Kirby after a pause. "I'm sorry but I do it before you."

"They don't like you are more, don't they?"

"They hate you, don't they? I know why. It's because you turned out to be the bad prince," said the boy, nodding valiantly.

Again the other was silent. "General," he said at length, "there's something you've never seen—got quite strange in the stories when you were writing the book prince is half bad, and sometimes the bad prince is half good."

"So there was never anything like that in the book," reflected the General, greatly surprised.

"And—surprised?" added Kirby, though not one man had good reason to be surprised.

"But just in one person?"

"Yes, and when person—half good, half bad half true, private member—gets into a mysterious underground passage, say, and the adventure takes him to where the people are good, why, then he tries to be all good."

The child pondered over this truth, little comprehending that it strained credulity to the limit.

"The soul common features of nearly all skin diseases is itching, annoying and oftentimes almost unbearable irritation."

The strong point about Dr. Chase's Ointment is that it is by reason of its remarkable soothing qualities it relieves this irritation.

But Dr. Chase's Ointment does more than this. It is composed of the greatest number of ingredients known to science, and its healing powers are often described as magical.

It has a cooling effect, relieving the itching and gradually and naturally healing the raw, flamed skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is especially effective treatment for eczema and salt rheum, that was very disagreeable to those who used it.

When you are trying to be a bad prince, not any more at all?"

"Not where you and your sister are," said Kirby, his voice quavering.

"Not where you and your mother who we go to?" asked the child.

"I don't know just what will happen," confessed the boy, staring duly at the ceiling.

"Silence came. Then the child sighed.

"I'd like to know the end of that story."

A man entered the room, smiling warmly. "I'm afraid I can't tell you the end."

Although no herald of intrusion had been apparent, he was suddenly reminded that some one had entered the room before the General had entered the house. He held his breath, and, in a moment, his heart beat like a drum.

He did not know nor, knowing, would greatly have cared that Judge Pleydell's plan was about to be executed.

"I'm afraid I can't tell you the end," said the man.

Mrs. Pleydell, Miss Phoebe and the General were already in the carriage waiting to be received by the neighbor's plantation. Waiting to be received by the General, who had been inexplicably delayed at the last minute delayed by the arrival of a telegram from the permisive effort, puffed, panting, threatening all in one breath, in a desperate attempt to bring her back to the front door, and, in a moment, a great farewell interview to his partner.

At length, in the midst of his broadings, a sound from the window attracted his attention, and, after a hasty return, he discovered young Randolph, Aaron and M. Vaudrey, all standing in the yard with a somber expression and intensity with a look of death.

They considered the ladies safety away, and the General had now come up.

They considered the ladies safety away, and the General had now come up.

They considered the ladies safety away, and the General had now come up.

Before a word had been exchanged Kirby fathomed their purpose, but no hint of cogitation was evident in his countenance. He stood there, with the courtesy of guest to host rather than with any intention of self defense, silence or even interest.

Chapped Hands AND Cold-Sores

Are your hands chapped, cracked or sore? Have you "cold cracks" where your fingers meet? Do your fingers often split? Have you a cold sore, frost bite, chilblains, or a "gas" place, which at times makes it agony for you to go about your household duties? Zam-Buk will give you relief, and will heal the frost-bitten skin. And at the sore places at night, Zam-Buk's rich healing essence will sink into the wounds, and the smarting and will heal quickly.

Many people have written us, saying, "My hands are so severe and cracked that it is agony to put them near water. When I wash my face, my hands burn as if I had scalded them. I seemed quite unable to get relief from anything I tried." Don't let me tell you that it succeeded when all else had failed. It closed the big cracks, gave me no more trouble, and I am now in a very short time healed by Zam-Buk.

Send us some extra samples, make a water-cure of Zam-Buk, and you will see how well it works. We have Zam-Buk in boxes, jars and tins, measures, pencils, ring boxes, etc., and Zam-Buk is the best. Send for free sample from the Bassano Drug Co., Bassano, Alta.

Huge G. P. R. Dam at Bassano, Alta.

The Canadian Pacific Railway report good progress in connection with the construction of the new dam at Bassano, Alta. This dam is being erected by the Irrigation Department of the Canadian Pacific. It will impound over 1,000 acres of the Bow River into the main canal of the east section of the irrigation system. The dam, when completed, will be an earth embankment on the south bank of the Bow River, 1,000 feet long, 100 feet wide at the existing river channel, connected at the northerly end with the canal 600 feet west of this point. Its south bank will rise in a gradual slope several inches above the water level, part of the land containing approximately one million cubic yards of soil, which will be covered and to be paved with boulders, cinders or reinforced concrete slabs.

The dam, when finished, will be about six hundred feet, another construction will be about 220 feet, in length between the two banks. The overflow will be at a maximum height of forty feet, above which dimensions are not given.

Eleven feet of water will be retained by structural steel gates.

The dam will cost about 40,000 cubic yards of concrete, and 1,200 tons of reinforcing steel.

It is estimated that the dam will be probably the largest which is now being built in Canada.

STATES FARMERS ARE COMING IN

Thirty-five western American farmers who are looking for farms in Alberta on which to grow Alberta Red wheat arrived in the city this week. They came from Chicago about the C.

"Calgary," operated by the Canadian Pacific between Chicago and Calgary twice a week.

These farmers are all landowners in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, but the life of the north has attracted them to Alberta and they are more or less relative to the resources of Alberta with the intent of establishing themselves on farms in this province.

Better Look Now

If you have decided to take a second look over the classified ads. You will get a better look if you will go to the Classified Ads. Of course you will have pleasure in doing so.

Mr. G. K. Allen, Mr. Alex Hill and Mr. W. H. Finlay formed a party from the Bank of Commerce who spent a pleasant week end in Calgary.

A special meeting of the town Council held last week, it was decided to extend the original by law requiring that the local election in this district be conducted on the first Monday in August. Here's hoping they do and put us into closer touch with the Clerk.

Carrying a small sack of fine looking spring wheat as we have ever set eyes on in Alberta, Mr. Frank McDonald interviewed the Alberta Pacific grain people in Calgary on Tuesday last and the result was that the grain men experienced great success. No. 1 sure. Test it as might, the grain people could not make it better than No. 2 and unless it is being sold as seed its not likely to grade more than No. 2.

Dr. A. G. Scott, formerly of Toronto has arrived in the town with the intention of commanding practising here, and a thorough examination was made by Dr. Smith of the Bassano News when he made his prospects inquiries into the openings of every place, he found no town with such attractive possibilities as Bassano. Dr. Scott is a graduate of Toronto University and has been in Alberta since he completed a considerable time in hospital work after leaving college and was for a year with the Toronto Public Health Department. He will be welcome to Bassano.

The essay contest which had as its motif, Bassano and its Prospects is closed with a presentation made by the eastern frontier school children. In view of the large number of entries from the school children the prize of fifteen dollars offered in the two compositions was divided among the winners. The first prize will be $7.00, the second $4.00 and the third $2.00. During the week Mrs. Golden, who consented to act as judge, will determine whose essay has warranted the prize, and the results will be announced in next week's Bassano News.

The essay writers were given by Mr. Tracy and Granville Lewis in Prince Hall, Thanksgiving night was a huge success. All kinds of odd and pretty characters were there masked. It was one of the best ever attended.

The girls, while Miss Fools Home and Mrs. Wilkinson enacted above keen competition. Miss Hennessy looked charming as a new girl and the real girls she carried did not frighten her escort at all. Fools were dressed as Uncle Sam.
